

An atom has neither an overall positive or negative charge.