

The energy in uranium that is used by power stations is called energy.