

Many galaxies show very large red shift values. This means that they are