

Electrical energy is transmitted through the National Grid at a high voltage.