

Losing an electron changes an atom's mass significantly.