

The majority of energy used by a light bulb is wasted as energy, which is another name for heat energy.