

Biofuels are considered to be carbon neutral because plants take in carbon dioxide during the process of