Efficiency= (....................................energy out/total energy in) x 100%